

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A materials storage chest system stores and selectively dispenses pipe in response to a controller which selectively limits access thereto. A material dispensing opening prevents access to the chest other than through the controller. A communication system provides for communication between the controller and a remote location to simplify inventory management and alert re-supply operators such that the system will provide adequate material supply.

N:\Clients\RIPALONE\IP00002\PATENT\rippaloneapp-002.doc